Constructed in 1943, this "Mobilization" structure is essentially identical to building 2600. It is 25 feet-4 inches by 78 feet-2 inches, however, and thus is a little longer. In appearance, this building looks like building 2600 except for very small, vestibule addition on one end. This building contains 1,950 square feet and was built at a cost of $3,800. Unlike the other 2600 series structures, this one had a kitchen and showers. The building seems to be in very good condition.

The physical description of building 2600 applies to this building as well.
